CONSULTING

Trio offers the full range of capability development functions – with a full Life Cycle Perspective.

CAPABILITY

Trio's consulting business is focused on defense capability development. We leverage the certified experts from our training business to the benefit of our consulting clients – and vice versa. After all, who better to provide the expert support you need than those who actually train the acquisition workforce? As for the types of capability we support, there is no limit, but Trio is exceptionally able to support C4ISR and Unmanned capability development. Trio is ready to support government or industry across the capability life cycle, including ...

- Concept Development
- Research & Development
- JCIDS
- Systems Engineering
- Requirements Development and Management
- Program Management
- PPBE
- Acquisitions
- Test & Evaluation
- Operations
- Strategic Planning
- Defense Policy

LIFE CYCLE PERSPECTIVE

Trio believes every capability development professional should have a Life Cycle Perspective.

- The best PM knows how the system will be used in real world Operations.
- The best Systems Engineer understands the Concept of Operations
- The best Requirements Developer already knows how the system will be Tested & Evaluated.

So, no matter the roll or function you need, a Trio capability development professional brings a full Life Cycle Perspective.

Is your capability development team missing something? Do you need support - with a life cycle perspective? Contact Trio Consulting for the last piece of the puzzle.
